VENDOR-MANAGED INVENTORY AND CONSUMABLES

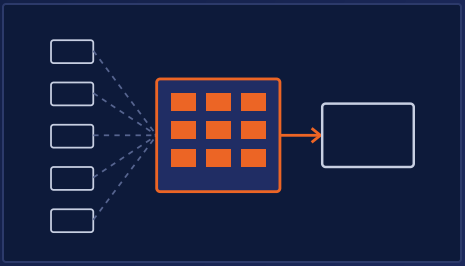

Vendor-Managed Inventory: Zero Production Stockouts

1,278 bills of material in 2025

The challenge: technicians at one of the largest U.S. technology solution providers were losing build time chasing consumables. The fix: Inspired Solutions buys the materials, stores them on site, and puts our own crew inside the customer's warehouse to release them as each build needs it. We carry the cost of capital until the stock is used. A commercial program, beyond our federal and state work.

WHAT WE DELIVER

Buy and own

We buy the materials, store them on site, and carry the cost of capital, so you pay only for what you use.

Vendor orders, inventory ownership

Run it on site

Our program manager, deputy, and inventory manager work inside your warehouse every day.

Receiving, storage, kitting, pick tickets

See everything

Live dashboards and vendor scorecards turn inventory data into decisions.

On-time delivery, fill rate, lead times, stock risk

Proof: one of the largest U.S. technology solution providers.

PAST PERFORMANCE

Vendor-managed inventory at its integration center, Inspired Solutions as prime

- Run the consumables inventory inside the customer's integration center warehouse, with an Inspired crew on site every day.
- Inspired buys and owns the stock, carrying the cost of capital, and releases it to production as bills of material call for it.
- Processed 1,278 bills of material in 2025 (981 cabinet and 297 platform builds) with zero production stockouts.
- Cut pick-ticket processing from about a day and a half to about an hour.
- Deliver live dashboards, vendor scorecards, and AI-driven analysis of inventory and supplier performance.

Problems we solved

Lines waiting on parts
Stock is staged ahead of each bill of material: zero stockouts.

Slow paperwork
Pick tickets went from a day and a half to about an hour.

Too much money on the shelf
Inspired owns the inventory and carries its cost until it is used.

No view of suppliers
Scorecards track on-time delivery, fill rate, and lead times.
